

A Valentine Card

Emotions show through like minute long kisses Snow as white paper, ink a carriage to take you there And thoughts flood the page and all the wishes come about; dare say an image without compare.

Of oceans like creamy white bubbles filled with hope And cliffs beguiling and sky azure make the scene alive; waves kicking the golden sand seeming to tope along; we are much as happy as this night beam.

Carry away my lovely to the well-acquainted shore Where mouths are free and certain and hands have there minds own Forever their wishes come true begun in the cards, sent yesterday lore
And my love- I do present the only thing I have known...

for sure; You're the only present with an unending gift Pure form, true heart and angel eyes that lifts.
Approach this as a portrait- the colors needed never ending, Awash in my waving thoughts I'm sending,
Bending around a line I've wrote-don't ever forget my love Sent this card to tell you- you are the one-love.

February 1998